BELMONT WORKS

The University is transforming the historic 120-year-old Belmont Works, next to our City Centre Campus, into a £60 million innovation centre for businesses, artists and academics to collaborate, as the second phase of our STEAMhouse initiative. The overhaul sees the restoration of the Grade A listed building which has stood derelict since being gutted by a fire in 2007.

COMMONWEALTH GAMES

The University will be at the very heart of legacy plans for the Commonwealth Games, being hosted by Birmingham in 2022. A deal has been agreed for the redeveloped Alexander Stadium in Perry Barr to provide a new home for our sports courses after the event, giving our students access to world-class professional facilities.

STEAMHOUSE

STEAMhouse is our fantastic business development centre which aims to encourage collaboration between the science, technology, engineering, arts and mathematics (STEAM) sectors. The first phase of the project features fabrication facilities for use by businesses and individuals, workshops, networking events and access to grants for small businesses.

EVERYONE PICTURED IS A POSTGRADUATE ALUMNUS OF BIRMINGHAM CITY UNIVERSITY. HERE ARE SOME OF THEIR SUCCESS STORIES.

REGAN PEGGS

Legal Practice Course
Solicitor, advocate, and founder of Regan Peggs Solicitors

Regan joined BCU in 1998 to study an undergraduate Law degree. He then went on to study a postgraduate qualification with us, which set him up for a truly successful legal career. Regan went on to set up his very own solicitors' practice and is thriving within the profession.

"The experiences that I had at BCU – both in terms of the quality of the education I received and the range of opportunities that were afforded to me – have been instrumental in shaping my career to date. It is with this in mind that I remain committed to offering other up-and-coming lawyers at BCU advice, experience and opportunities, through regular guest lecturing and speaking engagements at the University as well as the administration of an internship programme for BCU students at my firm."

BEN GOODWIN

PgDip Broadcast Journalism
Communications Manager, HS2 Ltd

With an ambition to work in the media, Ben came to BCU to undertake a postgraduate qualification, where he learned many of the practical skills he needed to work in journalism. The skills were also transferable, and he then put them into practice in a slightly different role, as a Communications Manager for the HS2 rail project.

"At PG level, there is much more one-on-one time with the academic staff, so you can really hone certain skills or work through a problem in much more detail. Plus, I found there was a greater sense of freedom, in terms of exploring areas of personal interest. I was given more time to develop original ideas, yet, at the same time, I felt that I was not just gaining an academic qualification, but I was working towards gaining an exciting career for life."

ASHLEY INNIS

MSc Real Estate Management
Project Manager, Birmingham City Council

Ashley has played a key role in many of the biggest developments taking place in Birmingham in recent years, including New Street station, Grand Central and the redevelopment of Paradise Circus. Before taking on that role, he decided to undertake further study with an MSc in Real Estate Management which he is studying on a part-time basis alongside his work.

"Over the course of my most recent roles, I have been involved in the development of a number of major regeneration schemes and projects so have a really good practical understanding of what is required and I wanted to supplement this with a theoretical grounding, so what better place to continue my studies than the place it all started at, BCU! I'm a Brummie, I've lived and worked here all of my life, and so I'm proud to attend my local university."

PAIGE JONES

Cardiac Care (Professional Practice)
Operating Department Practitioner

Paige used postgraduate study at BCU to continue her professional development as an Operating Department Practitioner, with a qualification which will allow her to progress in her role and pass knowledge on to other members of her team. Her studies will also open up opportunities for her to work in other areas of the hospital, such as accident and emergency or intensive care.

“Courses at BCU allow you to further develop the skills you have graduated with, to allow further progression to higher and more specialised roles in healthcare. All three modules are very much related to my everyday role as an Anaesthetic ODP in the cardiac theatres and I have already been able to apply some of my knowledge and understanding gained on this course to my clinical practice.”

ABED AHMED

PGCE Mathematics (School Direct)
Mathematics teacher

Abed teaches secondary school mathematics, an achievement made all the more impressive by the fact that he has had a stammer since the age of four. Despite the fact that teaching requires a lot of speaking, Abed has overcome his difficulties and also set up his own stammer support sessions at school, to help young people in the same position. His achievements have not gone unnoticed, and he was named ‘New Teacher of the Year’ at the TES Schools Awards 2018.

“I decided to study at BCU because it had a lot of links with schools I wanted to work in and was always well-known to produce great teachers. Also, my subject mentor Don Newtown is known around the country and he was the only person I wanted to work for. Staff were incredibly helpful and they offered sessions for me to improve my academic writing. I learned how to plan lessons, manage behaviour and thrive in my career.”

OUR RESEARCH

RESEARCH IS A CORE COMPONENT OF WHAT WE DO AT BIRMINGHAM CITY UNIVERSITY. OUR RESEARCHERS ARE COMMITTED TO DISCOVERING NEW KNOWLEDGE AND DELIVERING REAL BENEFITS TO CULTURE, INDUSTRY, SOCIETY AND THE ENVIRONMENT.

Postgraduate research students are members of our wider research community of academics and research staff, research collaborators and research users, who work together to create and apply new knowledge and understanding.

Studying for a research degree allows you to explore your chosen topic in greater depth, guided by expert supervisors within a supportive environment. In addition to analytical and research skills, you will develop transferable professional skills which are highly valued by employers, such as time management.

Our researchers work across disciplines and with collaborators locally, nationally and internationally to produce research of high impact to society, the environment, culture and the economy. We have launched the UK's first Centre for Brexit Studies, researching all aspects of the UK's vote to leave the EU, including the impact on the British and European economies.

Our latest Research Excellence Framework (REF) results demonstrate the public benefit of our research to society and the economy, with 90% deemed to have either 'outstanding' or 'very considerable' impact.

To find out more about research degrees, please visit our website at www.bcu.ac.uk/research.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

IT'S IMPORTANT TO BE AWARE OF THE FUNDING THAT MAY BE AVAILABLE TO YOU WHEN YOU CHOOSE TO DO POSTGRADUATE STUDY, TO ENSURE YOU HAVE ENOUGH MONEY FOR COURSE FEES, STUDY MATERIALS AND LIVING COSTS.

TUITION FEES

Each course web page includes the tuition fees for that course. Some courses involve intensive laboratory, clinical or fieldwork so may have higher fees. International students will be charged fees at the international rate (students from the EU with settled or pre-settled status may be eligible for 'home' fees; students from the Republic of Ireland automatically qualify for 'home' status). Part-time fees normally do not apply to international students as your student visa requires you to study full-time. Visit the course pages to find out about tuition fees and costs at www.bcu.ac.uk/pgcourses.

FUNDING YOUR POSTGRADUATE DEGREE

There are many different forms of financial support to apply for, but there is no shortage of competition for them. When it comes to funding, it's important to start early. Your starting point should be contacting the University, who will be able to tell you about any funding available.

POSTGRADUATE LOANS

The UK Government offers loans to eligible students starting a taught or research Master's degree. The maximum loan for students who ordinarily live in England or Wales was £11,570 in 2021. This amount grows with inflation each year. A package of support is also available to students who live in Scotland or Northern Ireland. Full details, including eligibility and repayment, can be found at www.gov.uk/postgraduate-loan.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships and other financial support are provided by a range of organisations, including universities, private companies, charities and the government. Some are designed to pay recipients' tuition fees; others help to cover living costs. There are many different schemes to apply for, but some may be competitive. Visit www.prospects.ac.uk for more information.

RESEARCH FUNDING

The UK Government also offers postgraduate doctoral loans of up to £27,265 per year for students starting a research degree in the UK. Find out more via www.gov.uk/doctoral-loan. Research funding is awarded on a competitive basis, using independent expert peer review. Potential applicants should refer specific questions about the applications process to the relevant Research Council. Discover more at www.ukri.org/funding.

NHS FUNDING

The NHS Learning Support Fund (LSF) package gives students on pre-registration health professions courses funding of at least £5,000 a year for maintenance and associated study costs. Further additional funding is available to those who meet certain eligibility criteria.

In addition, postgraduate pre-registration Nursing, Midwifery and Allied Health Professions students can access standard student loans on the same basis as students at undergraduate level.

For more information visit www.thefundingclinic.org.uk/postgraduate.

OTHER SOURCES OF FUNDING MAY INCLUDE:

- PGCE student funding
- Employer support
- Disabled Students Allowance
- Trusts and charities
- Crowdfunding
- Working while studying
